

WELCOME

On behalf of our members and trustees, I look forward to welcoming you to Romsey Men's Shed and joining in the things we do. Please take a little time to look at all the information in this pack. We are an independent, self-help charity and we aim to have fun and help in the community. We work together on practical projects that benefit local organisations, we recycle and repair useful things to extend their life, and we arrange trips and social activities. Friendly and informal, we bring together mostly (but not only) older men for company and activity, which are known to reduce isolation and benefit health and well-being.

We have a well-equipped workshop for all members to use for community or individual projects. Next door is our social shed for quieter activities, games and cups of tea. We are on the site of The Romsey School which has generously provided the space for the shed and given us much support. In return, we help the school and nursery whenever we can and we also aim to be good neighbours to nearby residents.

There are a few restrictions on what we can do and when, so please take a little time to read the Shed Operational Rules carefully. We hope you'll join us at our regular Wednesday morning meetings when we discuss and decide on projects and activities, hear talks of general interest and go on visits. And there are workdays on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday when we get on with project work or quieter activities in the social shed. New members are especially welcome to come on Thursday mornings. There's much more useful information on our website, and check the SHEDule page regularly to see what's going and when.

I look forward to seeing you at the Shed very soon.
